

Dr TK Au Yong graduated from the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Hong Kong in 1987 and joined the Department of Nuclear Medicine of Queen Elizabeth Hospital of Hong Kong in 1990. He obtained the Master of Science in Nuclear Medicine of the University of London in 1994, and then fellowships in Nuclear Medicine of Hong Kong College of Radiologists and Hong Kong Academy of Medicine in 2015. He is now the consultant-in-charge of the NM department and Clinical PET Centre of QEH. He is the President of Hong Kong Society of Nuclear Medicine in 1999-2003 and the Hong Kong Society of Nuclear Medicine and Molecular Imaging from 2018. He is also the Treasurer of the Hong Kong Society of Clinical PET. He served and the council member of the Hong Kong College of Radiologists and is now the network training program director of nuclear medicine of the College. He has special interests include Nuclear Oncology, Nuclear Cardiology and radionuclide therapy.